Mrs. Racz gets run over by a suitcase. News at 11:00.

Look your best for a romantic paradise, where you might meet Mr. Right.

When the drizzle gets you down, it's time to get some sun.

GETAWAY

Pat O'Keefe and Gerry Scott pose for photographers while anxiously waiting to find out which one won the "Man of the Year" award.

A CHANGE

Is your back bothering you? Don't suffer. Come get a massage from one of our trained masseuses. Call for an appointment now!

No matter what your expertise, skill, or desire, we've something for you. Ski our beginner, intermediate, or "For Experts Only" slopes.

OF PACE

If you've enjoyed our sumptuous cuisine just a little bit too much, shed those extra pounds in our fully equipped gym. Use the nautilus or work out with our aerobics instructors Amy and Kristy.

When you are too exhausted to pursue any more adventures, then follow Mrs. Kelly's example and sack out!

Soothe your aches in our jacuzzi.

Special swim classes are offered daily for younger vacationers.

You've secretely always wanted to do it but never could get up the nerve. Do it now. Hula!

THAT'S

appy Birthday, Dr. Pike! Enjoy parties and elebrations nightly on the Fiesta Deck lancing beneath the stars to Les lommes d'Amour.

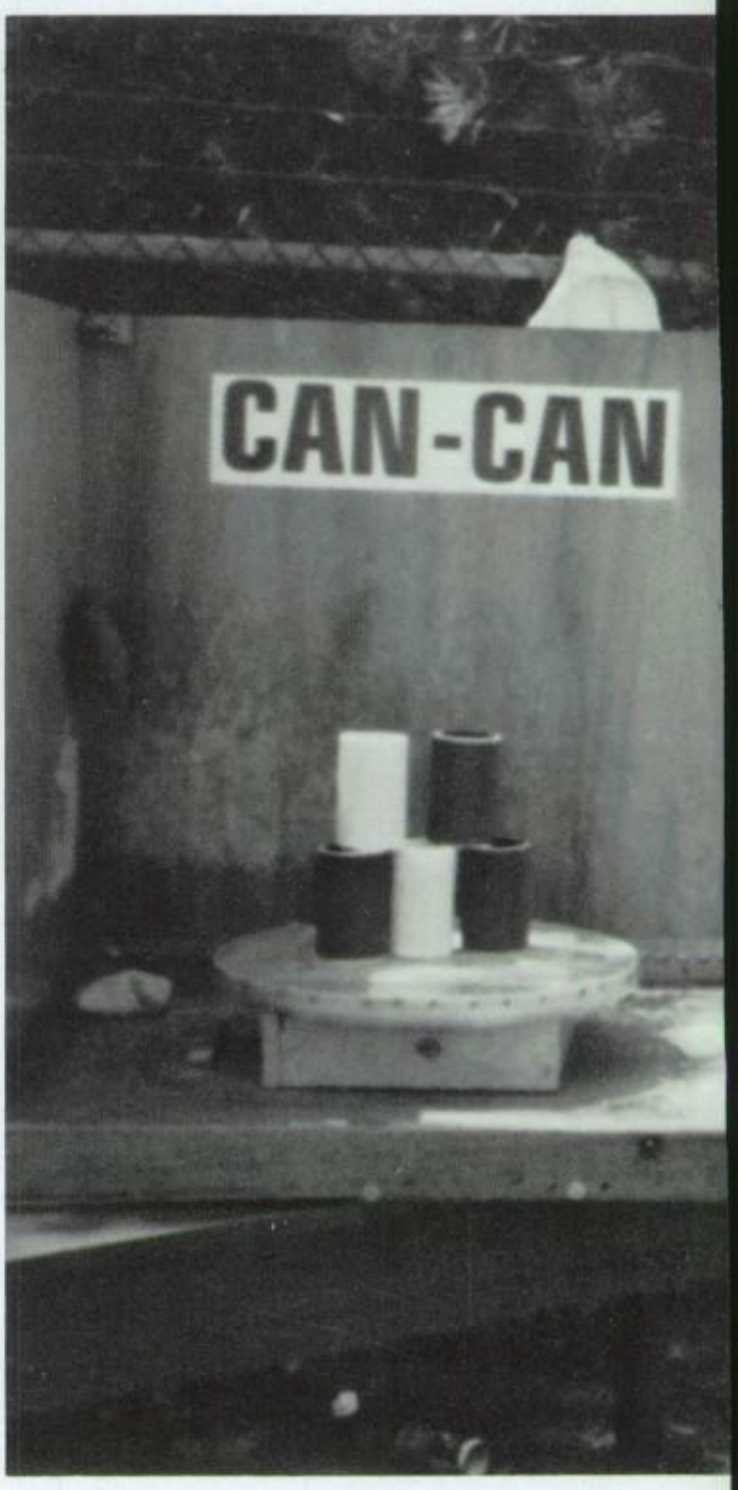
Dancing girls every Friday nite.



fter all this excitement you may ust want to relax. Why not take a ip in our Olympic size swimming ool.

On Tuesday and Thursday nights enjoy live shows. This week only; Andy Gosline stars in the comedy musical the Four Musketeers.

Now for your listening pleasure, the Tormented!

ENTERTAINMENT

We Bring You the Stars
That Shine the Brightest.

The majestic palace of Versailles has enthralled tourists for centuries. The fabulous Hall of Mirrors and the Citrus Garden are just two of the highlights that Ranney's world travellers, Heather Daesner, Genie Edwards, and Michele Bredahl got to view this year.

When you've had enough sightseeing and your feet are beginning to ache, experience a refreshing jet ski ride.

The ancient ruins of Rome are almost 2000 years older than our country, yet every year thousands of tourists flock to gape at the ancient architecture.

Not all sightseeing has to be done in foreign countries. As Kristy Bogardus discovered, the Grand Canyon is also quite a sight.

If you are one of those people who don't give a hoot about churches, statues, and old rocks, then sunny Waikiki Beach is the place for you.

PANORAMA

4★FOOD

★★★ Long Duck Dong's steamed broccoli and pepper steak is awarded Three Stars. This is a meal definitely not to be missed. Rachel Vukovich is certainly enjoying her taste of this delicious authentic Chinese meal. (Fork available for the less dexterous.)

★ House of Hamburgers gets only One Star. "Although the service is good, food leaves much to be desired. Honestly my ex cooks better than that!"

★★★★ Halloween is a devilish Four-Stars extravaganza!

★★★★ A fabulous Four Stars for the delicious home made ice cream at SCREAM! Mr. Samson samples Chocolate Decadence, an original I-Scream flavor.

★★★★ Kirk Hui stops for a food break at the Famous Three Winds Restaurant. He comments, "Well . . . the three jewels rice is my favorite but the lo mein is also pretty good."

★★ "You see these Tostada chips are a bit too hard. Maybe they are stale. I don't know, but I can only give them Two Stars," explains Lenny Feiner, our junk food judge.

★ "EWWW! It's gross. I mean really bad. I can barely give it One Star!" gags Ms. Rogers.

SENIORS

Senior year is a time of anxiety, anticipation, exhuberation, sorrow, and fear. It is the climax of the high school career. After four years of selling food: chicken, baked goods, subs, soda, and pizza; hosting dances: Christmas, Halloween, and St. Patrick's Day; and running carnivals: '85, '86, '87, the class, with the assistance of Mrs. Racz, earned over $8000 for the Prom. Accumulating this much money was not an easy chore, since seniors are kept quite busy by a variety of activities including college applications, editorial positions on school publications, athletic teams, part-time jobs, and, on top of those, the regular Ranney work load.

But the final year at Ranney has not been all work. Around May and, in severe cases, in April of the junior year, acute senioritis plagued the Class of 1987. Senioritis is a disease that affects the brains and bodies of students entering 12th grade. Symptons include an inability to complete homework assignments on time if at all, a revertion to child-like behavior such as a fondness for hide-and-seek, Duck- Duck- Goose, lunch boxes, cartoons, and an insatiable need to have fun. The only known cure is graduation.

The Zest of Life

Let me but live from year to year,
With forward face and unreluctant soul.
Not hastening to, nor turning from the goal;
Not mourning for the things that disappear
In the dim past, nor holding back in fear
From what the future veils, but with a whole
And happy heart, that pays its toll
To youth and age, and travels on with cheer,
So let the way wind up the hill or down,
Through rough or smooth, the journey will be joy;
Still seeking what I sought when but a boy,
New friendship, high adventure, and a crown,
I shall grow old, but never lose life's zest,
Because the road's last turn will be the best.

Henry Van Dyke

To Mom and Dad, I want to thank you both for helping me make it through the years. I Love You Both.

To my friends at Ranney School. I wish you all the best of luck in the world.

Channel No. 5

When all was said and done we had fun. Didn't we? Ilene-What can I say to the girl who I couldn't have gotten through times like "The Turtles" without. We'll have fun one day! Rutgers Visits,telephone calls from France,Freak-out notes, "talking" to the Smiths, things could be worse you could be... Amy-Rutgers roomies, Federal Express, yearbook all-nighters, hitting Jessica's dad with a pot, you won't have to hear my late-night clichés anymore. But don't count your chickens before they hatch. Jessica-forensics, the play, Catch 22, Arnie the Iguana. Preeti-late night phone calls, the Bute, Baltimore, Boston. Maybe this year you'll sign my yearbook! Dara-motorcycle man, the Empire State, mercury rings, 2137% error on lab reports. Justin-pen fights, Dot the Wot, "Does this hurt? Good!" Kristy and Melissa-Rutgers and the pranks, the sea devil himself, moose boy. Good times in general-Ghostbusters, Spud, New Year's 1986, The 8, The 22, Fish, the Prom?, Barefoot in the Park, soccer, "His eyes are like little melted pots of M&M's," the Snoopy thermos, etc. Mrs.Tomlinson-Thanks are in order but not enough! Dr.Searle, Mrs.York, Mrs.Kappel, Dr.Pike, Mr.Orminati, you've made Ranney worth every penny and that ain't hay! Guidance-I'll be back to haunt you! Barbara-BooBooBooBooBoo, Yah Vell, you've been a friend, been a pal, been a neighbor, been a buddy every day! Mom & Dad-I'll never clean the bathtub, but I'll always love you. You've given me the moon and I promise you the stars. Dad-While I'm gone remember to open it over the sink!

Just like a sailor heading into the sea there's a gale blowing in my face the high winds scare me, but I need the breeze and I can't head for any other place life would be so easy on the other tack but even a hurricane won't turn me back you might be an island on the distant horizon, but the little I see looks like heaven to me and I don't care if the ocean gets rough

Individualism is a fatal decision. But individuality is the salt of common life. You may have to live in a crowd, but you do not have to live like it, nor subsist on its food. You may have your own orchard. You may drink at a hidden spring. Be yourself if you would like to serve others.

Henry Van Dyke

If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music he hears, however measured or far away.

Juniors, who are often found buried beneath piles of unfinished homework, are some of the busiest people in the school. Their time is delicately balanced between school work and social life. In October they sold Hunt sweatshirts, raising over $200.00! Also in the fall they took the P.S.A.T.'s, which are like S.A.T.'s except shorter. These tests are used to determine National Merit semi-finalist and commendation winners.

Throughout the year, the Juniors have earned even more money for their Senior Prom by selling subs every Wednesday. In addition they hosted the Christmas dance, where everyone had a "merry old" time. But dances and parties weren't the only cause for celebration. One of the year's most festive occasions came in January when, Juniors took the CO-OP's for the last time. The CO-OP's are standardized tests used by Mr. Ranney to determine a student's proficiency in a subject. Now the Class of '88 must start getting ready for Senior year.

SOPHOMORES

Sophomore from the Latin for wise fool is not an easy role to play. Sophomores often get lost in the shuffle between Freshmen adjusting to a new environment and Juniors and Seniors on the "COLLEGE HUNT". But this year the class of '89 was determined to make itself known. Outstanding athletes like MEG MERAMBLE, who helped girl's varsity soccer to the states, or exceptional scholars such as ANDY BAER, who maintained one of the highest G.P.A.'s in the history of the school, made it impossible to miss the Sophomore class.

With the help of advisor, Mrs. Bell, they sold pumpkins at Halloween for $2.00. Also each week they "hawked", make that "clucked", chicken subs. One day all this money-making will pay off in the form of the Senior Prom.

In the future as Juniors and Seniors this class will hopefully continue to shine. So far they have proven themselves to be a very special group of students.

FRESHMEN

Freshmen year is a time for change, even at Ranney where 7th and 8th graders have already begun to take high school level courses. Freshmen have to make many adjustments to their new surroundings. They must get to know their teachers and the faculty, along with upperclassmen. Their work load is increased, which gives them less free time. Also some students choose to take A.P. courses for the first time. These classes are more demanding than others, but if the student does well enough he may earn college credit. In past years many of those who had taken these classes did receive the credit.

Along with these academic demands, Freshmen are given the opportunity to participate in a greater variety of extra curricular activities. French or Spanish clubs, student council, varsity sports, or forensic speaking are just a few which they may join. Getting involved in after-school events is one of the best ways for 9th graders to meet older students.

Another responsibility of Freshmen is raising money for the Prom. Even though it seems rather early, students must begin their first year in order to have enough funds for this special occasion. The class advisor, Mrs. Haut, has helped the class to earn money through food sales and a Freshmen dance.

The Guidance Department is adequately named, for it is always directing Ranney pupils. Dr. Beispiel, Mrs. Racz, Mrs. Kelly, and Mrs. Lambe have introduced students to so many new places and things such as England, Switzerland, summer jobs, colleges, scholarships, and B.R.I.T.E. (a trivia quiz bowl for Juniors and Seniors). They spend countless hours organizing college application data, always managing to get the numerous forms out on time. Guidance also discusses academic programs with every student. Mrs. Racz and Dr. Beispiel write in-depth recommendations for college-bound seniors. Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Lambe assemble and mail transcripts, and mid-year reports. Without the Guidance Department, no senior would make it to college.

"Click, click, click . . . ding!!" is music to the ears. In the Barn in room 12, the adored Ms. "B." (Basser) takes students away from the humdrum classroom routine. Typing is a necessary skill for both school and job. In college, all papers must be typed. Mrs. Basser teaches term-paper and business letter formats, and offers help with college applications and scholarship forms. And to make sure that typing remains everybody's favorite subject, she has a word game during the last five minutes of class. The player who can make the most words from the letters in a large word receives a prize. So far it has worked. Everyone loves typing and Ms. "B."

The Ranney School art department has expanded and improved this year with the addition of the new sky-lit art room in the high school and a new teacher, Mrs. Joyce Haut. Mrs. Haut, who teaches studio art to grades 7-12 and art history to seniors, is also an artist herself. She enjoys painting and sketching, but her favorite form of art is architecture. She has been to Florence and Venice and has collected slides of some of the great Italian master-pieces. She uses these slides in her art history lectures to supplement the school collection. In studio art, she has taught students to create more than just pretty pictures. The classes have worked on still-lifes, wood block designs, linoleum block printing, and architectural sketching. Mrs. Haut is a welcome addition to the Ranney faculty.

Dr. C. Stanley Searle — "What does the 'C' stand for?", you may wonder. Well so does everyone except for Father and Mother Searle, the good doctor himself, and one former Ranney student who managed to uncover the meaning of the elusive initial through her grandmother, who worked for the voting board. Dr. Searle has worked at Ranney since its founding in 1960. He is a veritable Jack of all Trades, teaching philosophy, vocabulary, literature, and European history, heading up the library, organizing graduation, and running the A.P. exams. Though strict in class, Dr. Searle makes his lectures more interesting with stories of Pennsylvania, former students, and Marlon Brando. He is part of a long-standing Ranney tradition. No student has ever graduated without at least one fond memory of him.

Players make the team, but coaches make the players. Barbara Bongiovanni, Girls' Varsity Soccer coach, has helped this year's soccer team to the N.J. State finals. Considering last season's record (0 Wins and 10 Losses), this is quite an accomplishment. Coach Bongiovanni also teaches physical education and heads the winter body-building program in the Auxiliary Gym. Her enthusiasm, combined with her coaching knowledge, has helped her players to improve not only their skills, but also their morale. During the games she anxiously paces the sidelines, concentrating solely on the players in the field. Her dedication, ability, and spirit make Coach Bongiovanni an asset to the Ranney athletic program.

Mrs. Friscia has been a dedicated member of the Ranney School faculty for twelve years. Her work as a librarian comes easily to her since she finds dealing with books and periodicals fascinating. However, the handling of books was only a small part of Mrs. Friscia's work over the first semester. She served as Mrs. Anick's replacement in the nurse's office adding phone calls, handling attendance, and delivering messages to her busy schedule. Still Mrs. Friscia patiently handled her overload of work, mixed with the uproar of students, quite gracefully.

They say that it is impossible for a person to be in two places at one time. Obviously, they have never met Mr. Kelly. From directing traffic in front of the Barn to proctoring senior study hall in the High School, he and his golf cart seem to be everywhere. He arrives just in time to save a student from impending disaster — lost books, broken lockers, etc.

Mr. Kelly has especially been a good friend to seniors. He was influential in restoring senior study hall and obtaining driving privileges for all upperclassmen. Mr. Kelly has even come to the aid of the yearbook staff. Typewriter, tables, and chairs appear like magic when he's around. What would we do without him?

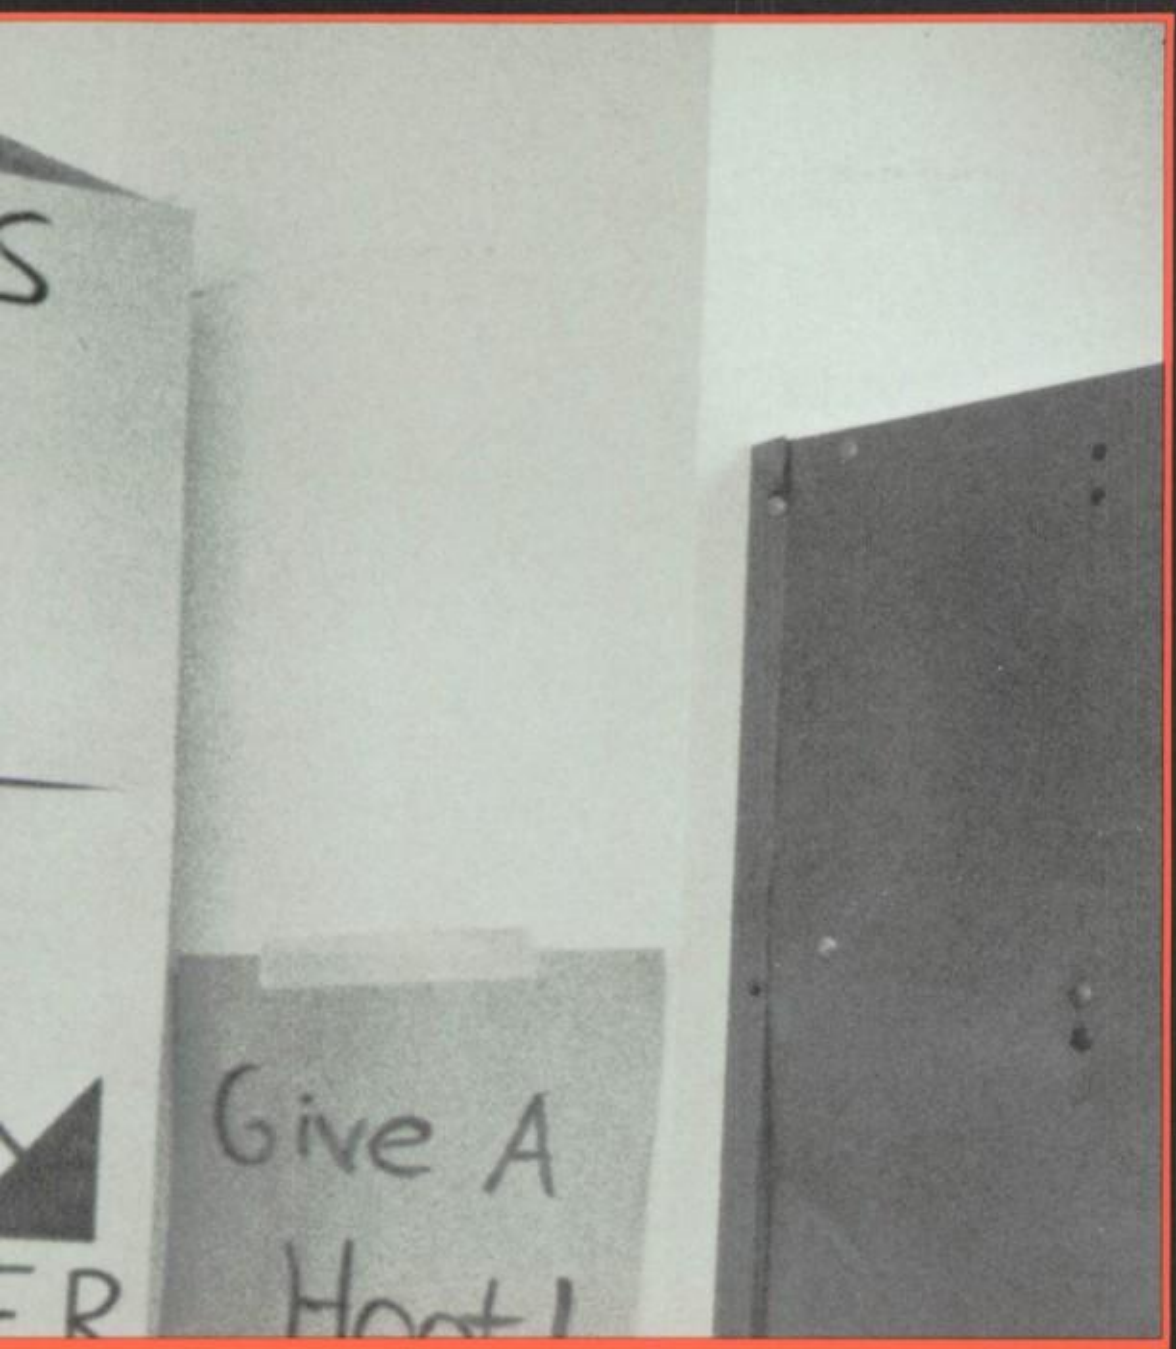
Student Council: Frank Austin, Carolyn Surgent, Donald Hicks, Dara Gumbs, Chin Buenviaje, Vinnie Bharara



The Student Council has finally become a driving force in the Ranney School. Its most important achievement this year was obtaining driving privileges for all seniors. The student council also helped the needy by sponsoring a Christmas food drive to benefit Lunchbreak. In addition, it purchased a Council Corner Bulletin Board, which was hung in the upstairs hallway. Thanks to added student commitment and enthusiasm, things are starting to change.

Dedicated Ranney students also participated in B.R.I.T.E.- an acronym for Bridgewater-Raritan Invitational Tournament of Excellence. This interscholastic competition is like a Trivia Bowl. Team members of the winning school will receive scholarships, but every participant gains a vast assortment of knowledge.

Every week, devoted Spanish and French club members sold doughnuts in order to fund social activities. In the fall, French club members visited the Guggenheim Museum to see the "French Angles of Vision" exhibit. On March 14, at Hunter College High School, the students competed in Le Grand Concours, a national French contest.

Not to be outdone, the Spanish Club sponsored a movie about life in Central America, followed by dinner at Europa South. In December, the club held a Fiesta de Espanol.

The Latin Club, made up of Barn students, went on its annual ski trip on January 30. The group ventured to Kington, New York, to ski Hunter and Belleayre Mountains.

In keeping with the yearbook theme, all the language clubs did plenty of traveling.

The four student publications are vital parts of the Ranney experience. The Barn Bugle, the middle school newspaper, gives junior high students a hands-on experience with journalism. Organized by Mrs. Racz, the paper covers stories concerning Barn events.

Prose, poetry, artwork, and fiction contributed by Ranney students are featured in R.S.V.P, the school's literary magazine.

The Ranney Torch serves as the students' forum. Staffed by sophomores, juniors, and seniors, the newspaper also serves as a good information source.

Horizons, the school's yearbook, combines photography, writing, and illustration and creates a book of the most cherished high school memories.

The performing arts at Ranney underwent many changes this year. Mrs. Linda Wilson took over as forensics coach and helped the team in winning several trophies at Long Branch Red Bank Catholic and Montville Tournaments.

Mock Trial, a new activity at Ranney, was introduced to the school by Mr. and Mrs. Yale. The event was run like a real trial with students acting the parts.

The Barn Drama Club, led by Mrs. Penny Morton, put on a performance of I Remember Mama by John Van Druten.

Through the creative arts, Ranney students not only gained public speaking skills and self-confidence, but they also had a lot of fun.

Once again, the Boys' Varsity Soccer Team made it to the New Jersey State Soccer Tournament. Unfortunately, they were eliminated from the semi-finals by Morristown-Beard in a 1-2 loss. Co-captains Andy Gosline and Justin Samson, who were selected for the Varsity All-state Team, led the team to several impressive victories over Central Jersey Christian (9-1), St. Joseph's (10-0), and Wardlaw-Hartridge (7-1). Coach Columbo, a new member of the physical education staff, did a fine job coaching this talented group of young men.

The Boys' Junior High Soccer Team, coached by John Natoli, also had a successful season. Its (10-8) record was one of the best for a Ranney junior high team. With wins over Neptune, Solomon Schecter, Henry Hudson, Lakewood Prep, Pennington, Holy Cross, and Rumson Country Day, these young players should be well-prepared for varsity soccer in the future.

For the Ranney Girls' Varsity Soccer Team, 1986, was certainly a winning year. Ranked second in the "B" Division of the New Jersey Independent Schools Women's Athletic Association, the girls ended the year with a 10-5 record with the help of Coach Bongiovanni. Team Co-captain, Michelle Mato, scored an amazing 32 goals becomeing one of the leading offensive players in New Jersey. Meanwhile, Megan Meramble, a sophomore goalie, had a whopping 175 saves.

Only the dedication, skill, and effort of the entire group can result in such a successful year. After two disappointing losses, the team rallied with several triumphs. But, the highlight game of the year, oddly enough, was not a victory. The Championship Tournament against Villa Walsh tested the stamina and skill of every player. Supported by a busload of enthusiastic fans, the girls struggled to keep the game scoreless until the final quarter. With 7.30 remaining in the second overtime, a wild shot. Villa Walsh rebounded off the post into the goal.

Though disappointed, both fans and players returned to Ranney with a sense of pride.

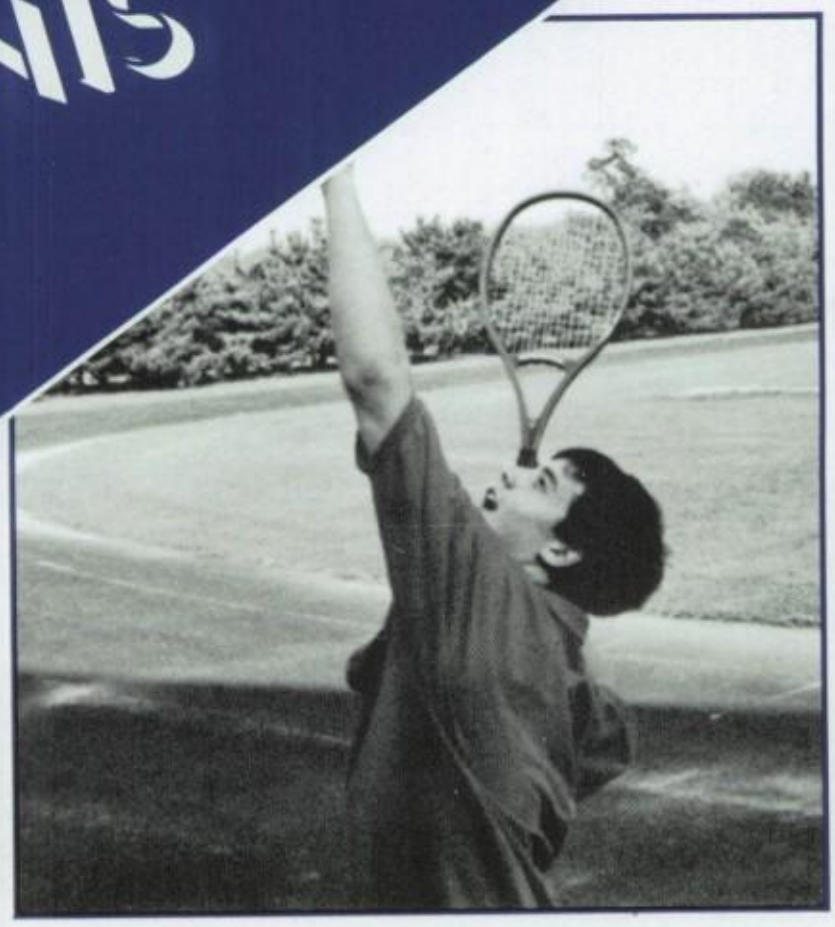
TENNIS



The spring of 1987 brought some important changes to the Ranney Varsity Boys' Tennis Team. Led by Coach Judy Smith, many of the younger players such as Steve Austin and Todd Glassman were given the opportunity to compete.

Despite the loss of several key seniors, the team managed to do reasonably well. David Stern, a new senior player, was a valuable asset and helped the team to win several matches. The vigorous training and conditioning that the players were forced to endure payed off in the end.

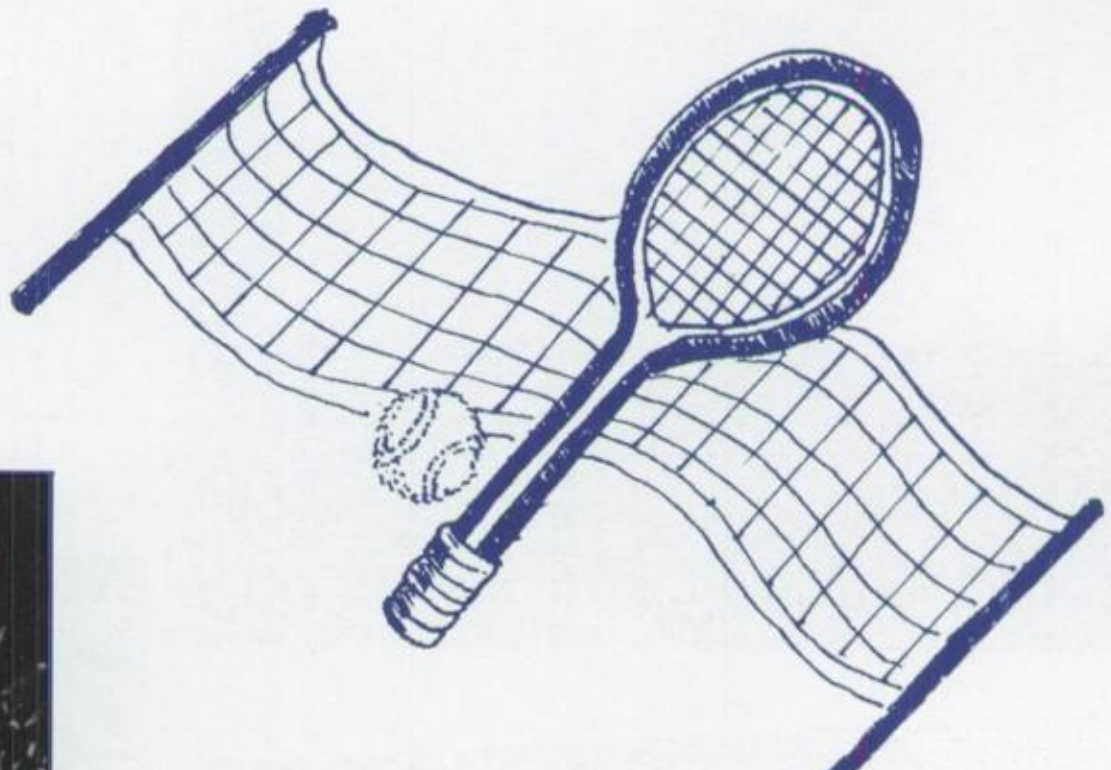
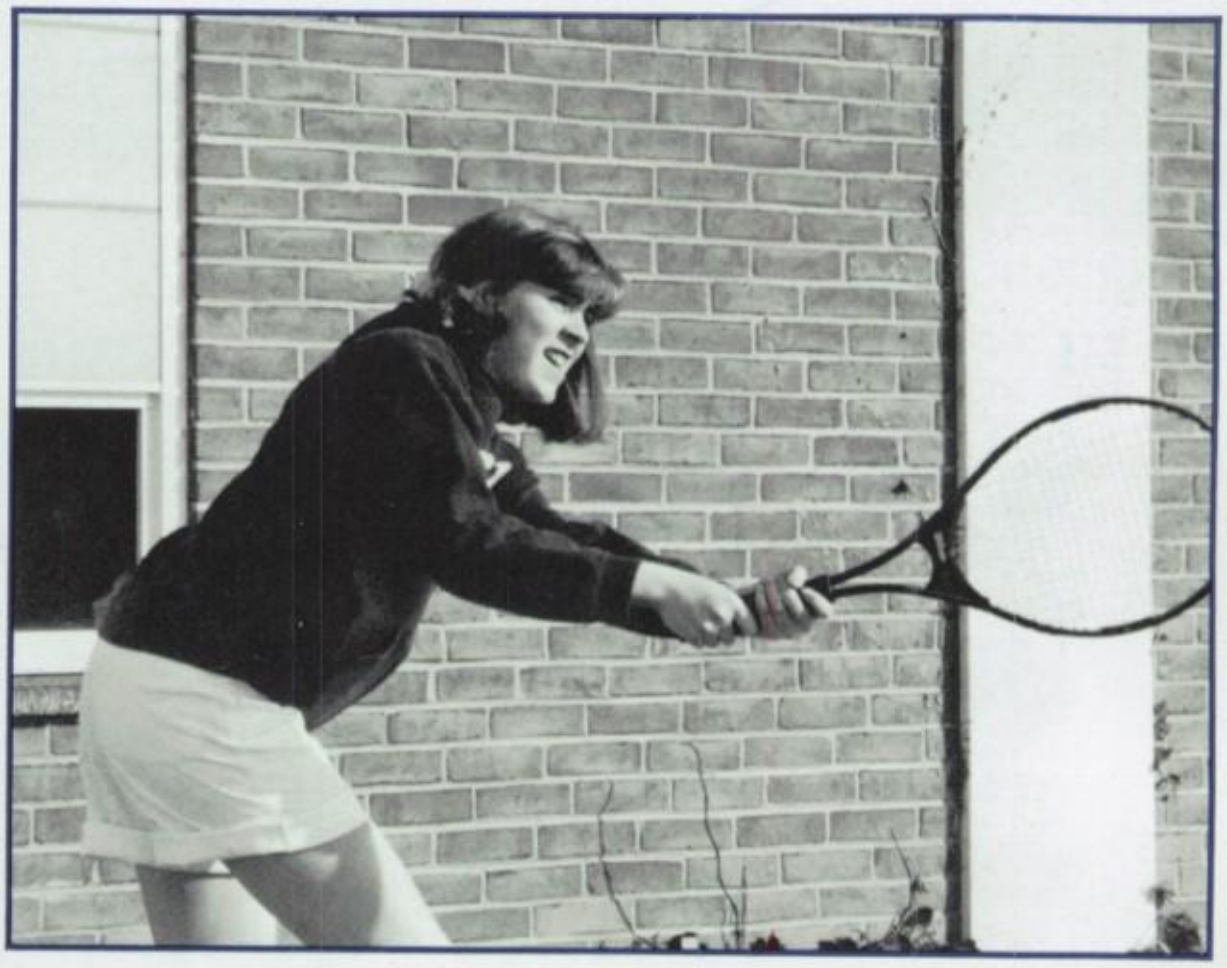
	Blair (States)

Determination is the word that best describes the 1986 Ranney Varsity Girls' Tennis Team. Though the season had its ups and downs, the team made it to the State Tournament, where it was defeated by Blair Academy. However, Genie Edwards, a junior, was ranked third in the state after the match.

Coach Judy Smith was quite pleased with the girls' performance and felt that the girls' 7-8 record was respectable. With more practice and hard work, the young team should do even better next season.





This year's cross-country team, coached by Mrs. Claudia Taborn, was much improved in many respects. For the first time in many seasons, the team won.

Captain Mike Rubin felt that the team was improving and should continue to improve. Overcoming difficulties such as the "mountains" at Holmdel, disappearing courses the pumpkins in the cornfield, helped the team to profit from these experiences. Despite constant whining, aching muscles, and fatigue, the runners had a great time.

Both the Boys' Varsity and Junior High Teams should be proud of their respectable records. The Varsity Team, coached by Mike Columbo, finished the year with six wins and twelve losses. Beginning the season with losses, the boys rallied to beat Blair Academy and Gill St. Bernard at the Dwight Englewood Tournament. But, many of the team's losses were by a few points. Thus, the players worked very hard and should be proud of their accomplishments.

The Junior High Team, coached by John Natoli, was also successful with a 5-8 record.

Girls' Varsity Basketball has returned to Ranney! Meg Meramble encouraged the reformation of the hoopsters. Although their record was only 1-8, Coach Gilligan felt that the team had potential.

Ranney put up a considerable fight against opponents, such as Henry Hudson Regional High School and Rumson- Fair Haven High School. The team won their final game at Oak Hill.

CHEERLEADING

The Ranney cheerleaders not only lend their support to the Varsity and Junior High Basketball Teams but also promote school spirit. The cheerleaders were carefully selected by a panel of judges, which included Coach Hanke and Mrs. Ranney. Each girl was judged on her ability, poise, and overall grace and appearance. They worked hard learning cheers and even making up ones of their own. Despite the lack of fans at many of the games, the cheerleaders encouraged the players and were in part responsible for the victories.

Divided into Varsity and Junior High squads, the girls represented Ranney at all games. The school owes the cheerleaders a great, big cheer for doing such a wonderful job.

This year's Varsity Swimming Team was one of the largest ever, boasting many strong swimmers. Coached by Mr. Walling, the team has improved tremendously in the last few years. Though their record was 2-10, many swimmers won individual first places. Unfortunately, Ranney did not have a diving team, preventing the swimmers from winning the close meets.

Ranney claimed its first victory over Roselle. Their other win was against Cedar Ridge.

One of the season's highlights occurred in the final meet with Trenton, when captain, Greg Younger, came back from a full length behind to win the freestyle relay for Ranney. With the dedication and enthusiasm of the swimmers, the team becomes stronger every year.

The Boys' Varsity Baseball Team, coached by Mike Columbo, faced a difficult season getting up to bat against such worthy opponents as Admiral Farragut and Morristown-Beard. The coach had a hard time choosing the team, but it was finally made up and uniformed in time for the first game of the season. The players' dedication paid off.

The Junior High Team also spent a good deal of time on the diamond. They finished the season tired but happy. Spring fever faded, but baseball fever lingered in the blood of fans.

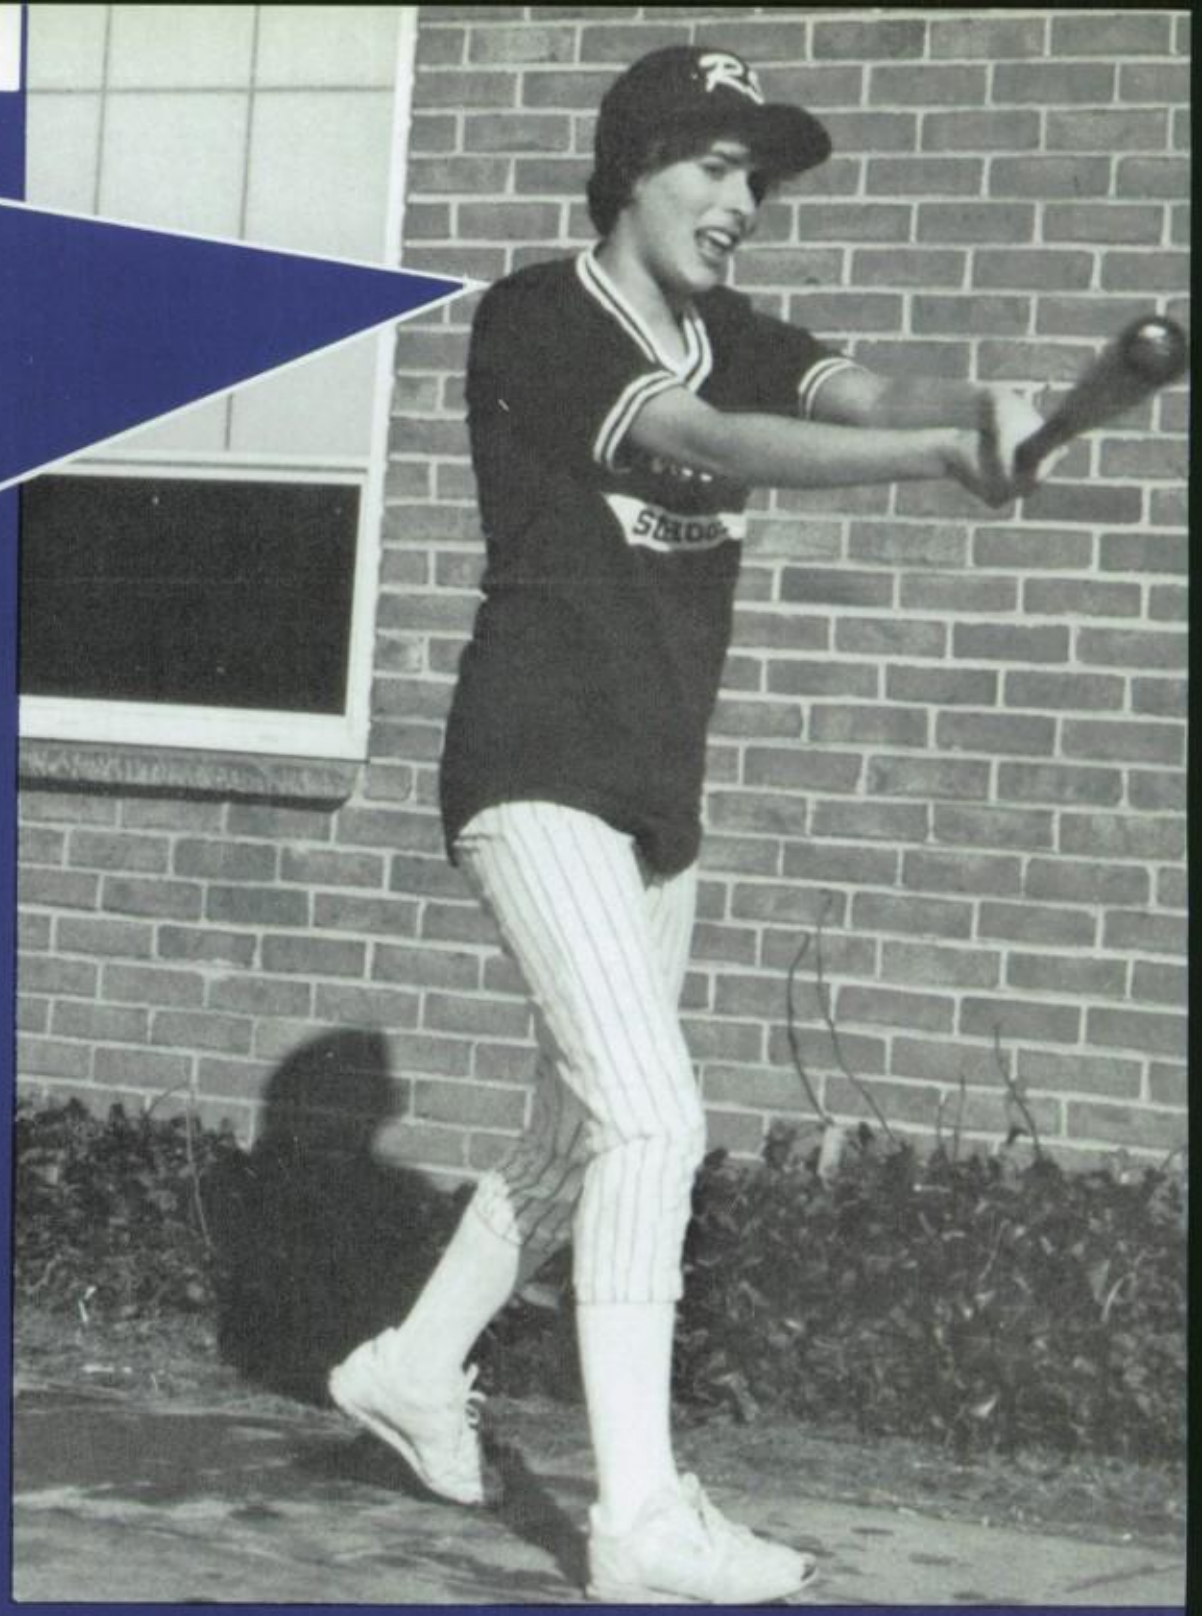
SOFTBALL



After the loss of Coach Tavares, Coach Natoli filled in as coach for this season's Varsity Softball Team. Through vigorous training, the girls improved their skills and their attitudes.

There was also a Junior High Softball Team coached by Mrs. Virginia Jennings. The girls practiced four times a week, learning softball techniques.

Though both the Varsity and Junior High Softball teams didn't have the best seasons score-wise, the future does look brighter.

Caution..Men Working
Caution..Men Working

Dear Class of 1987,

How have you been? It seems like so long ago since we marched down the aisle to Pomp and Circumstance, girls in floor-length white dresses and boys wearing their new summer suits. Though our diplomas may have yellowed since then, the images of Ranney remain clear in our minds. But, our remembrances of 1987 have become a bit hazy. When our children ask us about our youth, we retell the same old stories, but what was it really like? Well, it was really like this.

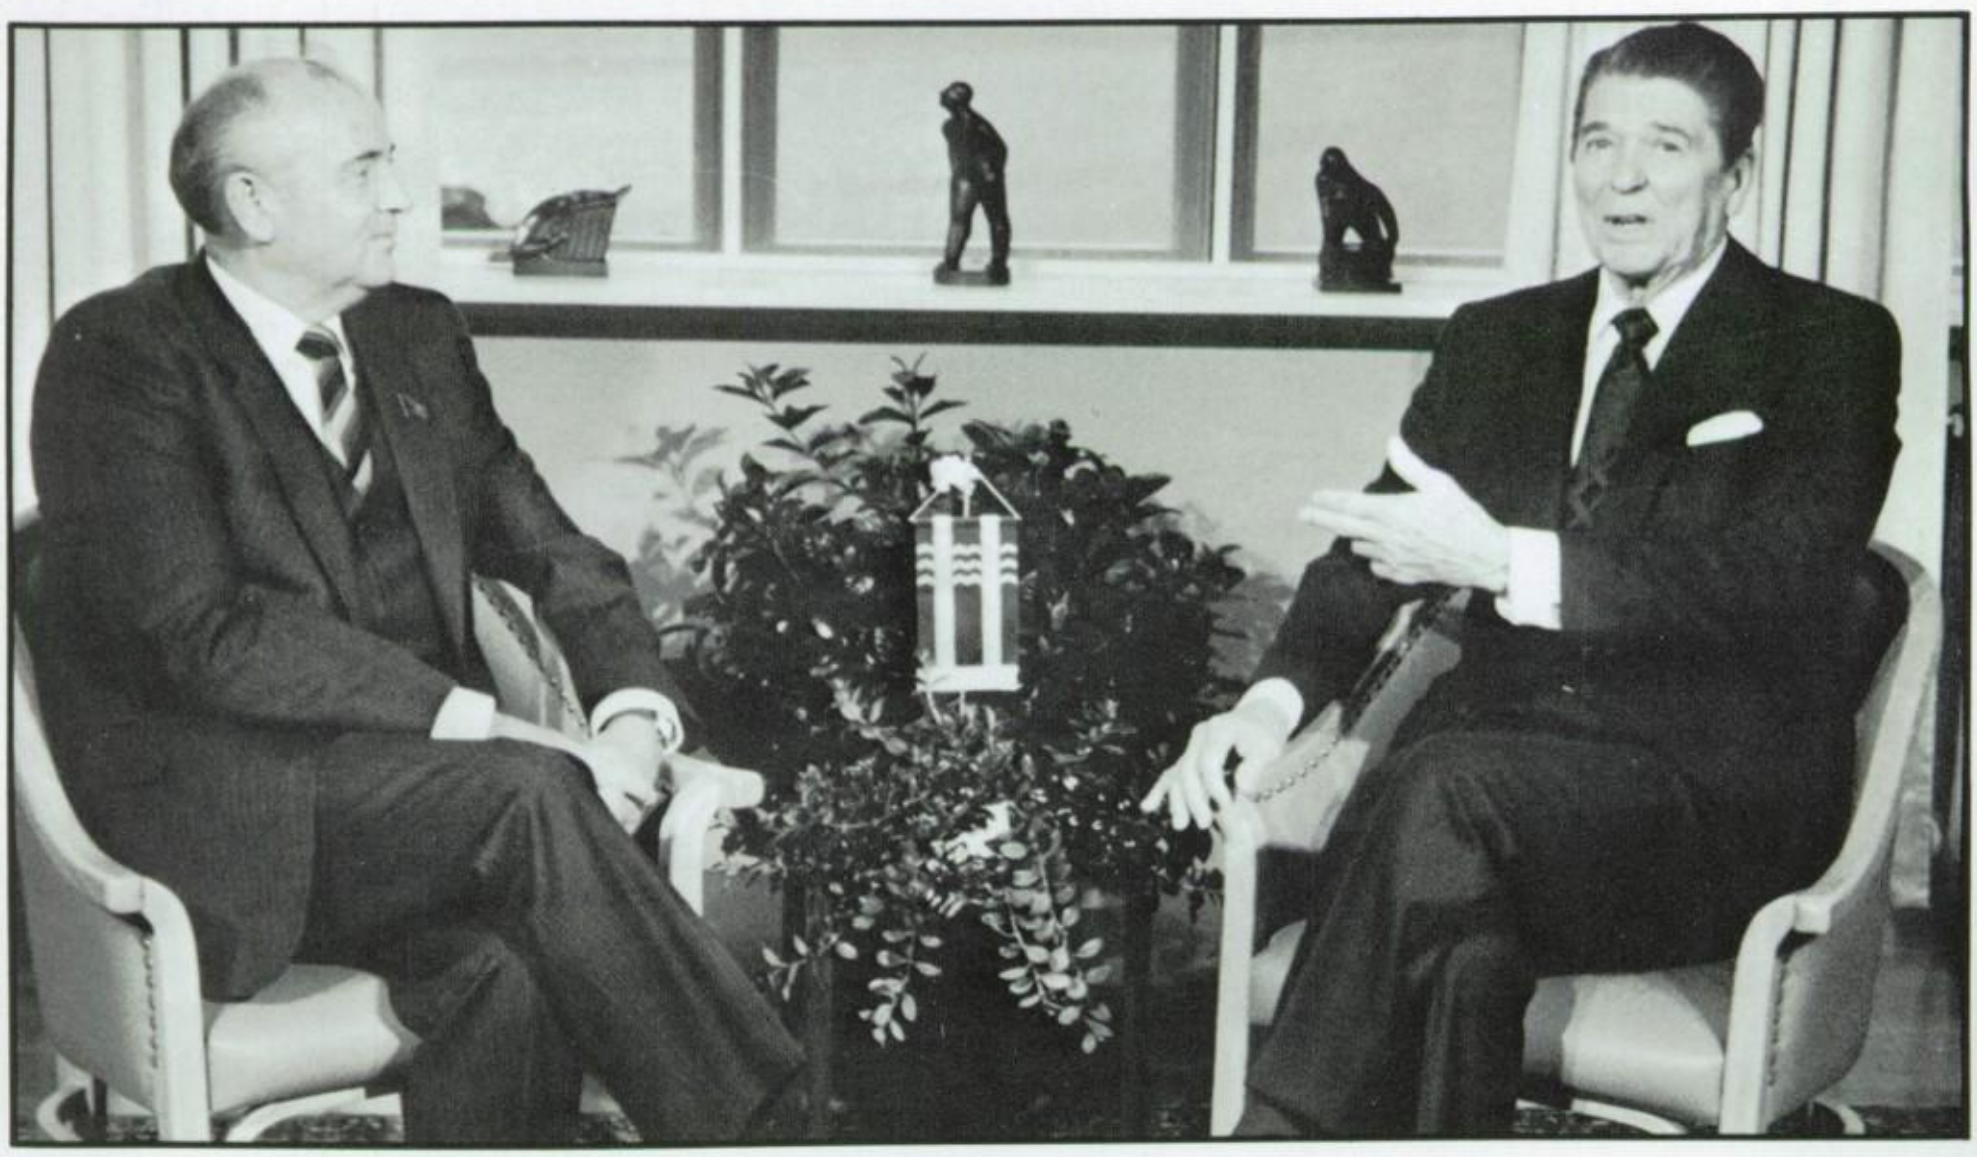
The Setting: America, 1987. The country is under the leadership of Ronald Reagan, an actor. In office for two terms, he puts on a good show. But, it's what goes on behind the scenes that worries us. His administration has been rocked by one of the biggest political scandals since Watergate. Though all the facts have yet to be untangled from the web of cover-ups and deceit, the evidence suggests that our government has been engaging in arms trades with Iran. The Tower Commission has been investigating, but we may never know what REALLY happened since key figures in the ordeal, National Security Advisor John Poindexter, and his assistant, Lieutenant Colonel Oliver North have pleaded the Fifth (Amendment that is).

But perhaps it is unfair to judge the Reagan Administration solely on this event. In a world troubled by violence and disease, Reagan did manage to accomplish a great deal. The Tax Reform Bill, which he signed in October, is the broadest tax overhaul in a generation. It cuts taxes for the workers and increases those of corporations. But only you can say whether it really has changed anything or not.

Also in October, Reagan met with Soviet leader Mikail Gorbachev in Reykjavik, Iceland for a two day summit to discuss arms control. Unfortunately, the two leaders reached an impasse on testing of the U.S. Star Wars weaponry. Thus, the arms race continues with both countries senselessly pouring billions of dollars into missiles and weapons which become obsolete the day after they're completed.

The People: 1987 was a year for weddings. Britain's carousing Prince Andrew finally settled down, wedding red-haired English commoner Sarah Ferguson at Westminster Abbey in a spectacle that mustered the pomp and glory of Britain's 920-year old monarchy. America's own "Royal Family," the Kennedys, celebrated a wedding, though not with quite the same pageantry as the Brits. In Hyannis Port, Massachusetts, the Kennedy Clan assembled to watch as Caroline Kennedy, daughter of the late president, and Edwin Schlossberg, a New York businessman, exchanged vows.

Meanwhile, in Africa, thousands of children are starving because warring armies have prevented them from obtaining the food piled up at the borders of Sudan, another failed attempt to help the hungry.



But, America is not without its needy. The homeless population has increased rapidly, and in New York City, the shelters are overloaded. Even our own aid programs failed. Hands Across America, a program that hoped to build a human chain from New York City to Los Angeles and in the process raise funds for the needy in the U.S., ended up with most of the profit going towards "organizational expenses."

And, even with the overpopulation, in New Jersey there rages a battle over a single child. "Baby M", as she has been dubbed by the press, is the offspring of William Stern and surrogate mother Marybeth Whitehead, who refused to give up the child after its birth, had previously agreed to act as a surrogate for the Sterns. Now, the court must decide whether the laws of motherhood or of contract should determine the proper home for the infant.

The Pastimes: Wheel of Fortune mania has swept over the country, and everyone just loves number-one letter-turner Vanna White. You probably don't recall any of these things, but we assure you that they existed. And, so did the little yellow diamond-shaped signs emblazoned with such logos as "BABY ON BOARD" and "EX-GIRLFRIEND IN TRUNK". People actually stuck these on the rear windows of their cars. Yes, it was stupid, but have you ever seen a fad that wasn't?

Along with decorating our automobiles, we also decorated ourselves. Hair bows in all shapes, sizes, and colors were clipped, tied or pinned to the coiffures of the times, which by the way are "longer and more feminine" according to fashion magazines everywhere.

The closets of the well-dressed woman contained at least one pair of patent leather shoes, preferably with matching pocketbook. And, somewhere in her wardrobe was probably a black jersey dress. Anything metallic, from shirts to hair color, was a necessity. But of course, Ranney students were caught in a fashion time warp, wearing the mandatory navy and green kilts, grey skirts and blue blazers.

In our free time, we enjoyed eating Chinese food (lemon chicken was a favorite) or going to a movie (for $4.50 a seat). Some of us played Laser Tag, a sophisticated, technicalized version of the "cops and robber" games we had enjoyed as kids. In 1987, we even found time to read books outside of those which we were assigned (Madame Bovary, Macbeth, and The Stranger). Among the authors on the Best Seller List were Stephen King, Judith Krantz, and Howard Fast.

We entertained ourselves with V.C.R.'s, home computers, and compact disc players. Though no single music group was particularly "in", U2, Pete Townshend, and Peter Gabriel were popular.

The Good Times: New York invited the whole world to the most extravagant birthday party ever given; the Statue of Liberty was 100 years old. On July 4th, hundreds of thousands of people flocked to the tiny Manhattan Island to watch the fireworks and the shows. The sports world also had good reason to celebrate. Mets fans went crazy when their favorite team beat the Boston Red Sox in the World Series. But, one of the most exciting surprises turned out to be the Giants. The team which had never won a Super Bowl defeated the Denver Broncos (39-20) in Super Bowl XXI in Pasadena, California. All of America breathed a sigh of relief when Dennis Connor and his crew, sailing the Stars and Stripes, recovered the America's Cup from Australia.

The Bad Times: While some revelled, others mourned. The A.I.D.S. epidemic has spread at an alarming rate, affecting homosexuals and heterosexuals alike. The virus, which destroys the body's immune system, claimed the lives of Rock Hudson and Liberace not to mention countless other lives. They say AIDS will have a death toll equal to that of the Bubonic Plague and the Influenza epidemic combined. Though research continues, the first effective vaccine probably won't come into use until 1990, at the earliest.

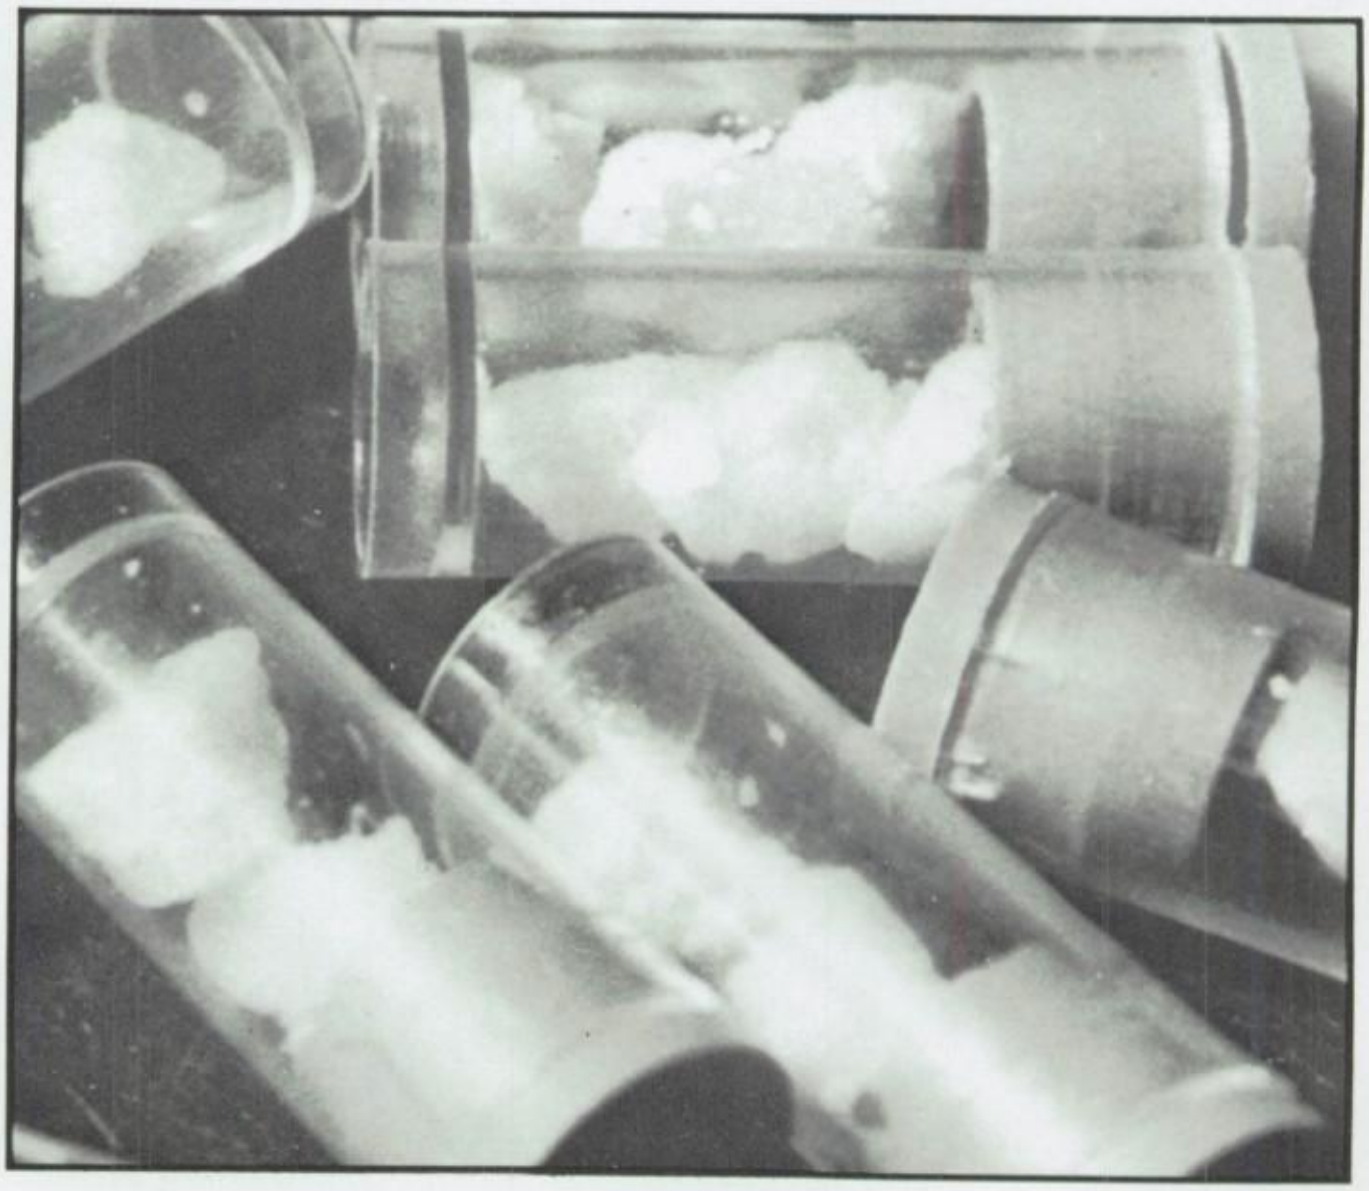
It is called "crack" on the East Coast and "rock" on the West Coast, but whatever its name, this refined, smokeable form of cocaine may be the most addictive narcotic ever sold on the streets of America. Its almost instantaneous high makes even a first-time user dependent on the drug. Despite a nationwide attempt to control use of the substance, more and more people have become addicted every day.

And, still more scandal shakes the nation. Corruption on Wall Street shattered the faith of the general public in the stock market. Ivan Boesky, who owned his own arbitrage firm, was discovered to have been insider-trading. He was fined 100 million dollars and may still have to serve a jail term.

So this was 1987, the world we inherited upon graduation from high school. For better or for worse, it was ours, and we did the best we could with what we had. And, though we will never be able to return to the past, at least we can see "what it was REALLY like."



Jon Lundell and Walt Cichy at Herff Jones: THANKS!

Mrs. McCann: We appreciate the use of your kitchen, den, table . . .

Dr. Searle: Thanks for putting up with us

Coach Smith and the Phys Ed Staff: Thanks for the help with the sports section

Mrs. Hammett: We appreciate your understanding

Mr. Kelly: A round of applause. You deserve it!

Mrs. Tomlinson: Your support and encouragement were invaluable

THANKS

Gerard: We are grateful for your patience and skill

Mrs. Mahon: Your assistance made our lives easier

Mrs. Baer: We are grateful for your help with the computers

Mrs. Zimmerman: Without your financial co-operation, there wouldn't have been a book.

Mr. Dudley Davis: Thanks for going out of your way to make our book the best it could be

Mrs. Haut: We appreciate your assistance, your talent, and your art supplies

8:45 A.M. Amy and Dot enter the high school, half-carrying half-dragging THE BOX to RM 14. There they begin working on the layouts for the present deadline.
9:45 A.M. Dr. Searle's vocabulary class charges into the room. Amy and Dot are evicted. Still hauling their cumbersome burden, they go to the only available space, RM 1, also known as the storage closet. Despite incessant drilling and the noxious fumes from rubber cement, the girls complete 2 more pages.
10:35 A.M. At the sound of the bell, the weary editors meet Kirk and his camera. The trio rush off to the Barn to take pictures. However, the seventh and eighth graders are difficult to work with since it is pizza day and they are all clamoring to get their lunches. Finally through, the group returns to the high school. Mr. Kelly and Mrs. Mahon greet them with a surprise, their own journalism room complete with table, chairs, and typewriter. RM 12 is where they will design pages, write copy, and crop pictures. The table is covered with miscellaneous yearbook paraphernalia including empty White-Out bottles, photographs, and picture tags. Somewhere among the rubble is the pica ruler, which is in a permanent state of being lost.
12:15 P.M. The halls boom with the sound of the hungry lunch-goers. But Amy and Dot remain in infamous room 12, nicknamed the torture chamber. Michelle arrives with two brown-bagged lunches, which she has thoughtfully prepared for them. She states that she will do anything to help, so they ask her to draw some dancing Egyptians.
1:35 P.M. Justin struts in and proudly announces that Dara, Cyndy, and Jennifer have sold almost $5000 in ads, a Horizons record. Dot sighs, at least the book won't go bankrupt!
2:15 P.M. One page after another, the young journalists complete the final layouts. From 3:30 on they work in the McCann's kitchen, taking over the table, the chairs, and even the floor.
By 7:45 P.M. they speed to Federal Express to mail the package. Another deadline is met.
So this was what yearbook was all about; 200 pages, 5 deadlines, and lots of work. But it is more than this. According to the Dictionary, Horizons means "the range of an individual's knowledge, experience, observations, and interest." Within these pages are your ranges of knowledge, experiences, observations, and interests. These are your Horizons.

A TRIBUTE

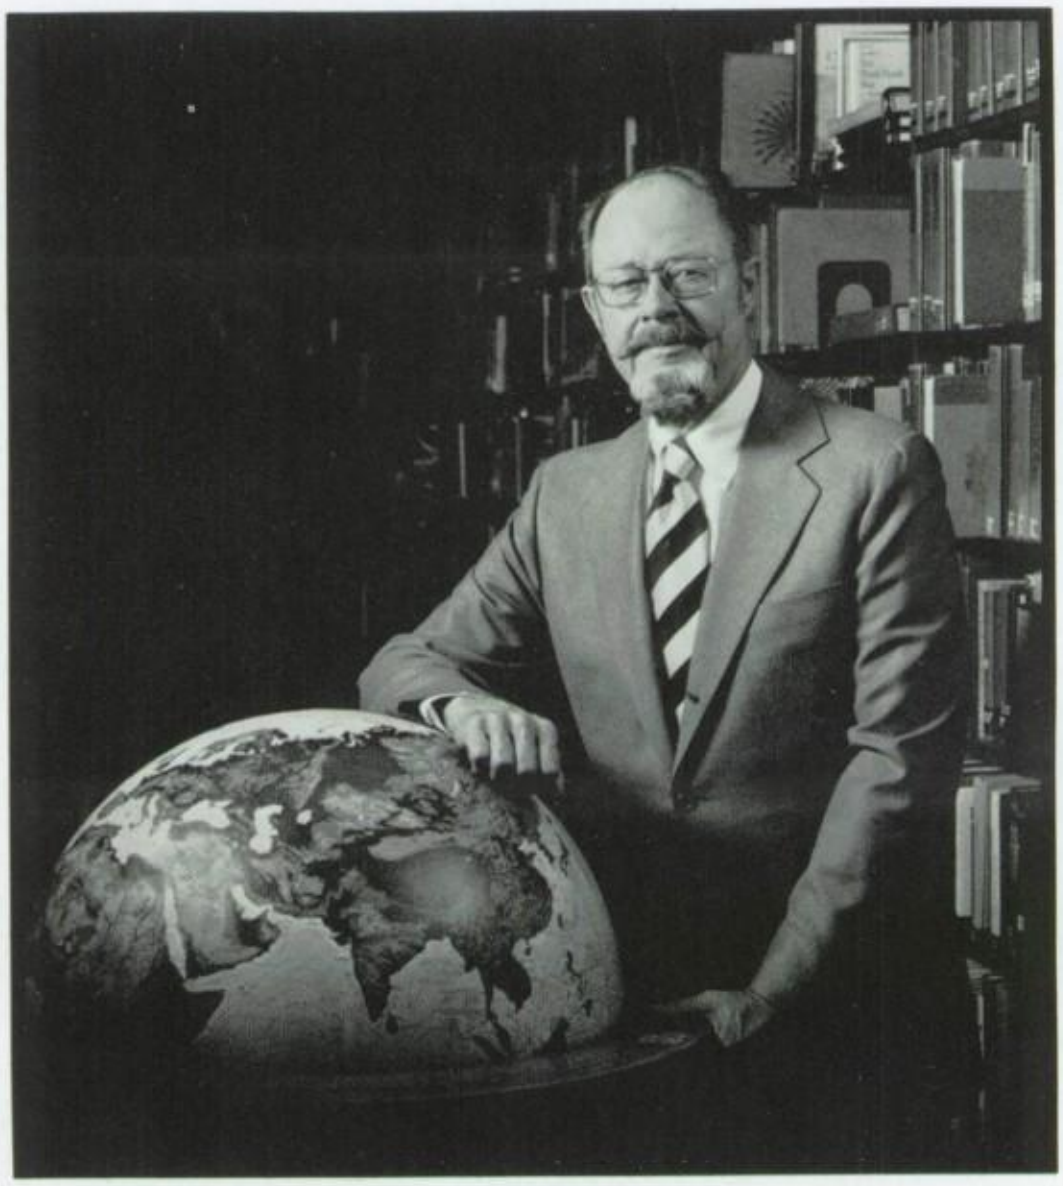
RUSSELL G. RANNEY

When we are born, we are each issued a passport to our own destinies. Some people are content to leave their passports gathering dust. Mr. Ranney, however, believed in always moving forward. He strove for the best and, upon obtaining it, reached for more. His dreams became reality through his determination, courage, and dedication.

Starting with a barn and a stable in 1966, Mr. Ranney transformed the Gugenheim Horse Farm into his own educational empire. "This is my own world," he once declared. "I use my own materials for teaching and I teach my own teachers ... The Ranney School operates like a physician's practice. This is my practice. There is never any doubt about who is in charge here. I'm in charge ... "

Although Mr. Ranney had numerous administrative and business responsibilities at the school, he was never too busy for his students. He referred fondly to the student body as "his kids," becoming a surrogate parent when each enrolled and continuing his interest in them even after they graduated.

He was so proud of his "children," not just those who went to Harvard, but each one. He pushed his students to achieve, and they have. Ranney alumni influence reaches as far as the London Wall Street Journal, the Lincoln Center Opera Company, AT&T, United States Navy nuclear submarines, Mobil, Stanford University, CBS News, University of Kuwait, Lord and Taylor, and the U.S. Coast Guard Academy.



A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops.

— Henry Brooks Adam

Those who knew Mr. Ranney admired and respected him for what he could and did do. Over the years students have not always agreed with his policies, but they certainly have valued his judgement. His charisma and boundless energy made him a dynamic presence wherever he went.

Mr. Ranney was not a man to be forgotten. His death on April 4, 1987, came as a great shock to all. He knew that the day would come when he no longer would be headmaster. He expected the school to change, because he felt change was the way to improvement. But he hoped that his concepts of education would carry on.

Though it defied rationality, most people viewed Mr. Ranney as immortal. And in a way he is immortal. Though the man shall be missed, his spirit remains. In the Ranney School, in the Commons Building, in the soon-to-be-built Field House, in the summer camp, but most of all in the hearts of students, Russell G. Ranney will live on.

Summer 1956: Rumson Reading Institute

Mr. Ranney was not an ordinary teacher. For that matter he was not an ordinary anything. After earning his teaching degree from N.Y.U., he became a math teacher. At the close of World War II, he lived in Europe for six months with a French family. There, he formed some of his basic principles of education. When he returned, he took a job as superintendent of the Tinton Falls schools. He noticed that many of his students had various problems in reading. Intrigued, Mr. Ranney attended special reading programs at N.Y.U. and became so interested that he resigned from his position as superintendent.

Soon after, he worked as reading consultant for Fort Monmouth as well as for large corporations, such as IBM and AT&T. During this time Mr. Ranney developed the grammar sheets and tachistoscope slides that have remained the building blocks of Ranney education.

Men and women who attended Mr. Ranney's courses soon began to question whether similar learning services could be provided for their children. Mr. Ranney was quick to comply and soon established Saturday morning classes in his home. The Rumson Reading Institute was founded in 1952. By the second year of operation the original enrollment of 7 had grown to 98; the demand for the Ranney method had become so great that Mr. Ranney was compelled to start a full-time school.

1975: Groundbreaking for the Brod Building

Though the method and quality of education at Ranney has remained constant, the facade of the facilities has been constantly changing. The school was originally held in the basement of Trinity Episcopal Church in Asbury Park, but seeing the need for a more permanent setting, Mr. Ranney purchased the 40-acre Tinton Falls site.

Then, the barn was actually a barn, and the library was a vaulting room for indoor horse jumping. Over the years a great deal of renovation has been done. A splendid indoor pool and gym were added in 1977, and most recently, the spectacular Student Commons Building was completed.

Though physical structures do not educate children, Mr. Ranney felt the proper learning environment was as necessary to education as textbooks and teachers.

1981: Carnival Day

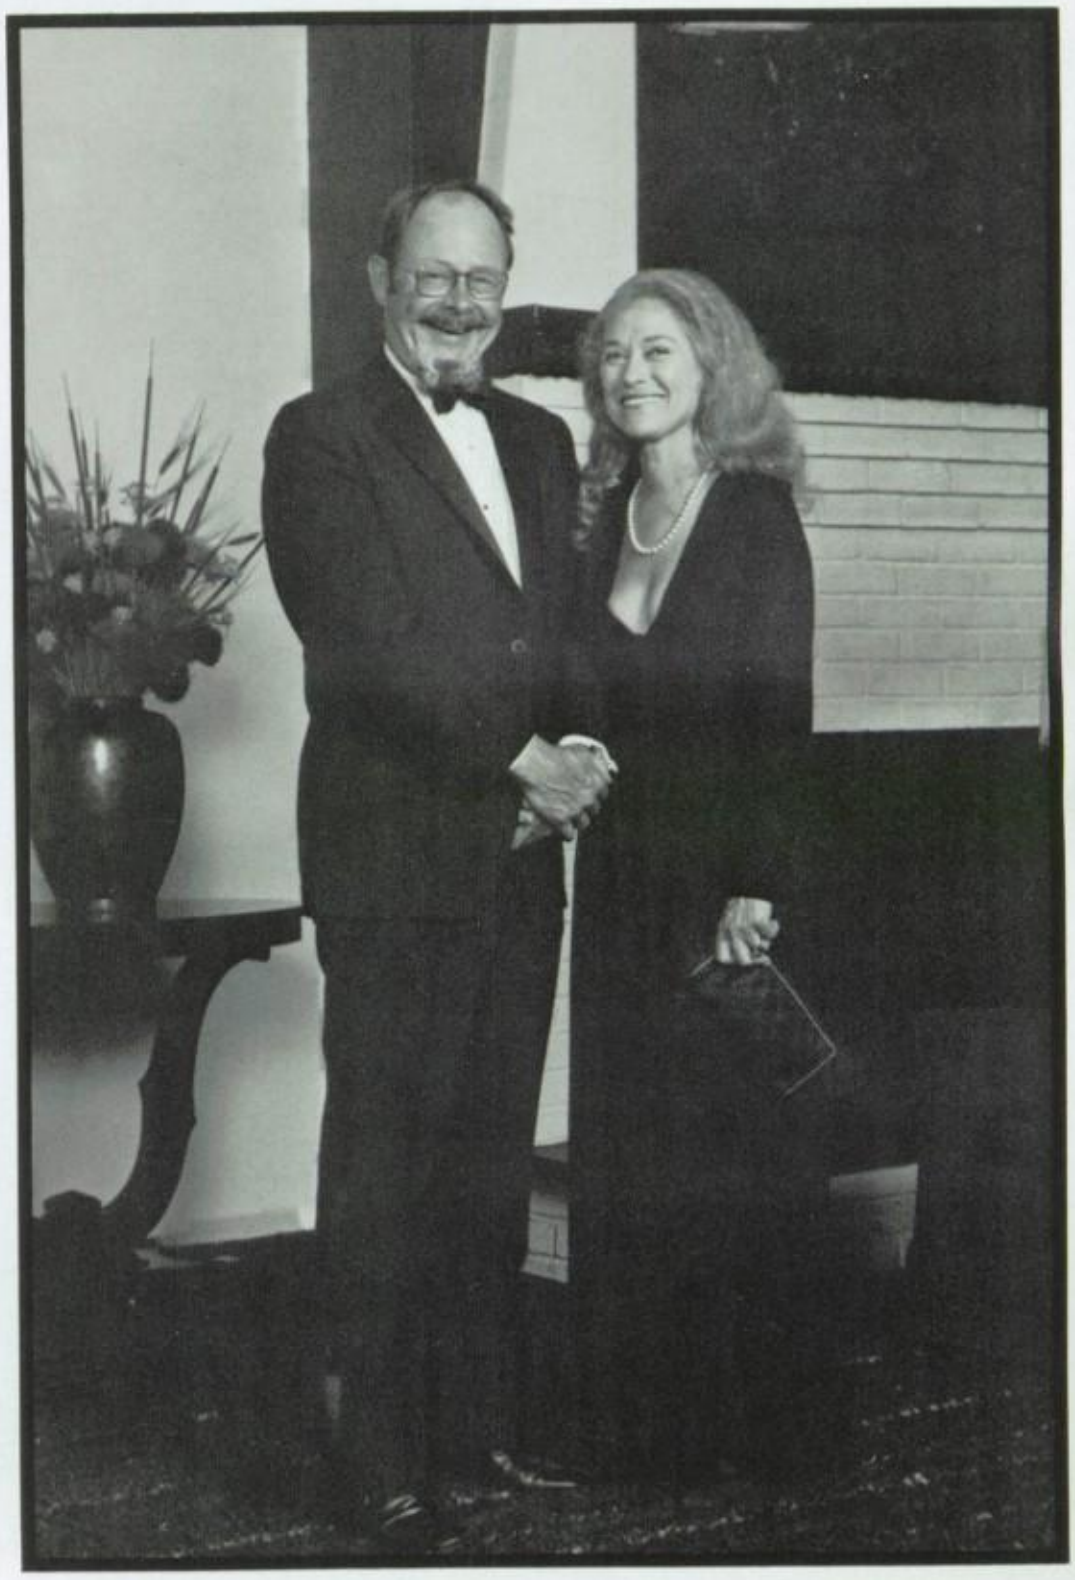
A master teacher is how Mr. Ranney was described by his staff. He personally trained each new faculty member. Also he held weekly meetings with the English department to discuss how to improve the program. Often, he took over classes so that other teachers could observe him and learn his technique.

Though he was not an easy man to work for, he was always supportive. What he demanded from himself, he also expected of his staff. He was the teacher's teacher.

Work hard, play hard was the way Mr. Ranney led his life. While he was a firm believer in dedicating himself to his job, he also felt that entertainment was important. He loved to travel and visited all over the world, including Alaska, the Soviet Union, Europe, and the Orient. Gardening, dancing, and reading were activities that he enjoyed during his limited free-time.

Education, to him, was more than just reading, writing, and arithmetic. He stressed that Ranney graduates should be well-rounded people. Ballroom-dancing, drama, bowling, journalism, studio art, athletics, and chess club are just a handful of the activities offered during the course of the school's history.

The new 9-5 schedule that Mr. Ranney established for 1988 will allow students the opportunity to explore areas outside the standard curriculum.



The Road Not Taken

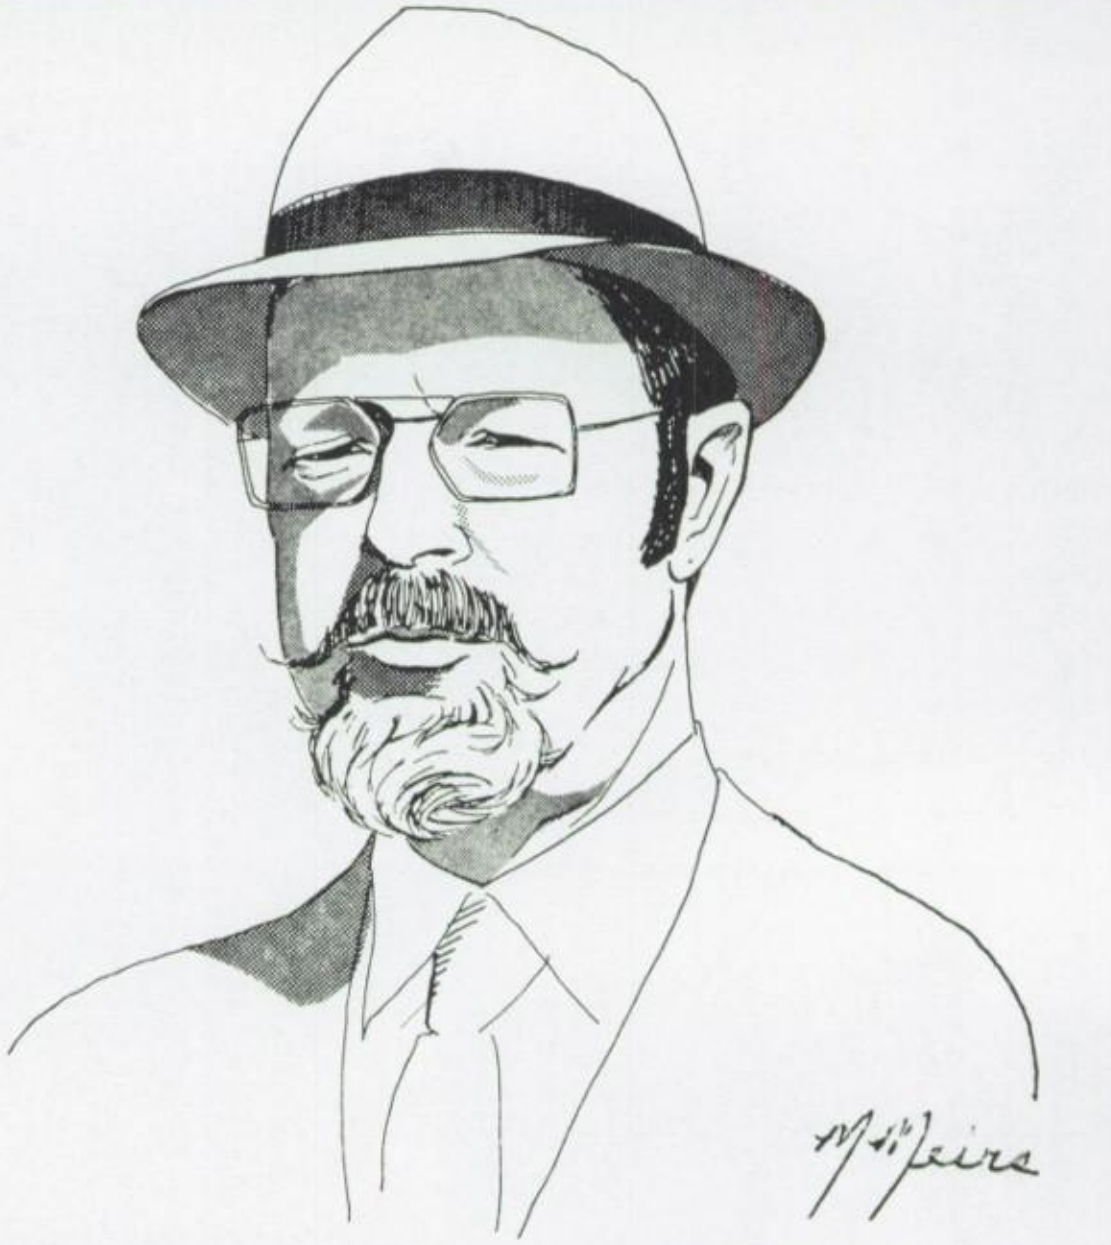
Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

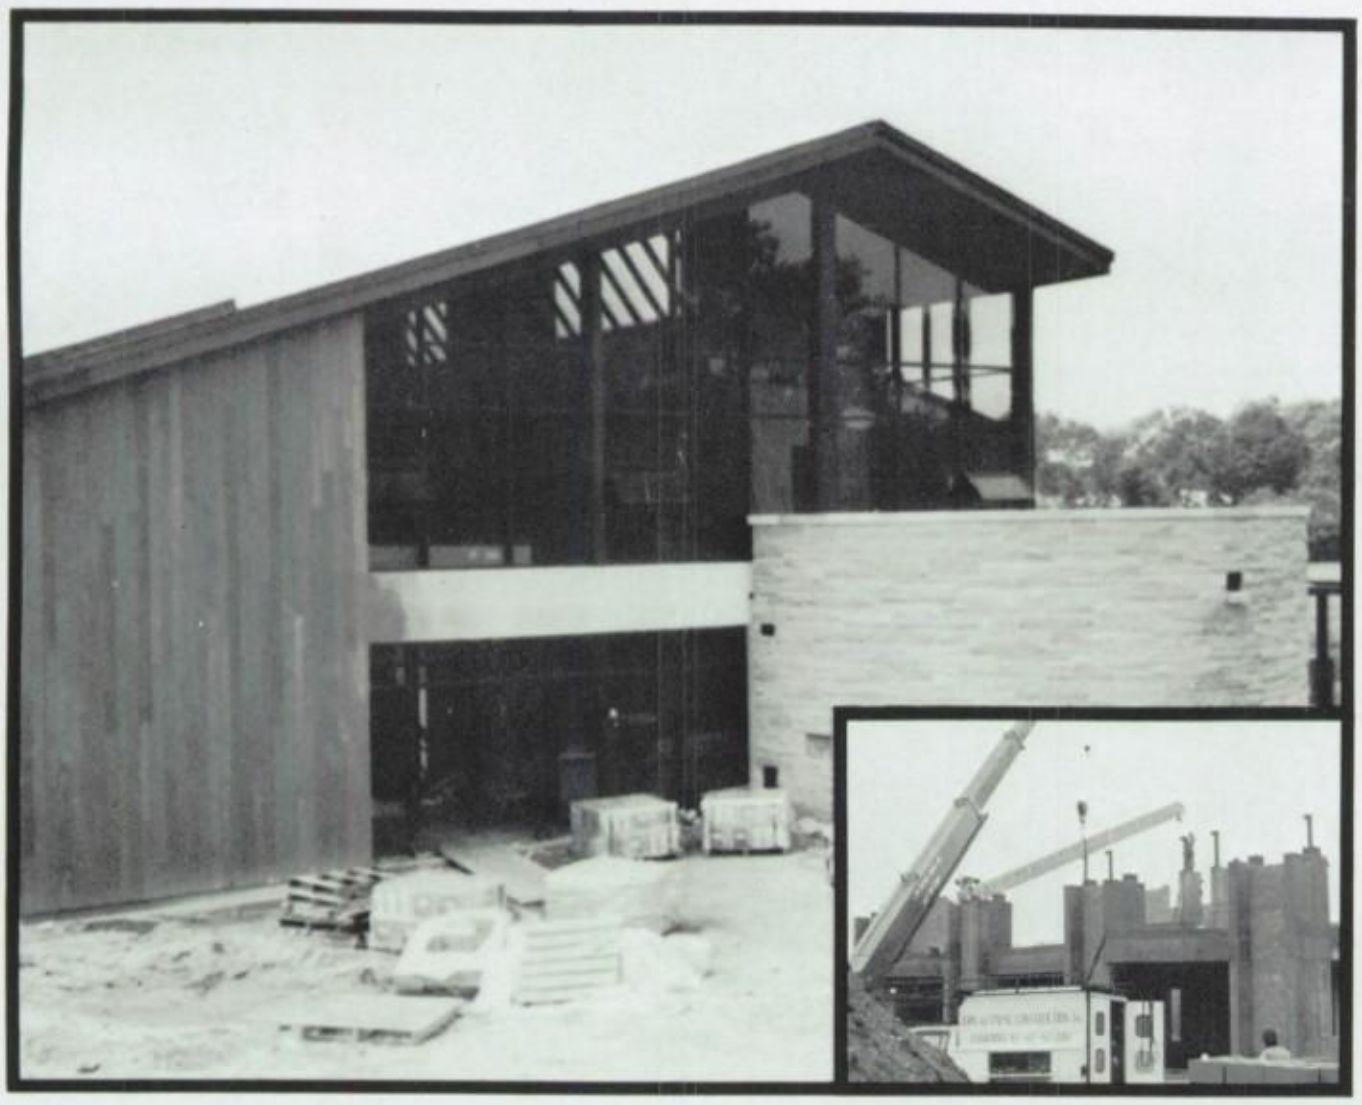
Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

— Robert Frost





1987: The Student Commons Building

The Student Commons Building was one of Mr. Ranney's dreams. Its futuristic chandelier, German stone floors, and indoor waterfall make this magnificent structure the crowning glory of the Ranney School. The Commons Building is part of the 4.5 million dollar construction project that Mr. Ranney initiated in 1984. By 1990, a new field house, complete with indoor baseball diamond, volleyball courts, and skating rink is to be finished. The Commons Building, which contains a new bookroom, music room, dance floor, gourmet kitchen, and conversation pits, best exemplifies Mr. Ranney's taste for only the finest.

Bittersweet is the moment when we end our journey. We look forward to the future with anxiety and anticipation. But we also look to the past, and remember with an air of nostalgia, the places we have been. We've come so far, yet we still have so far to go. And though this may seem more like we are coming in for a landing, in actuality we are only just preparing for take-off.
